

LOCAL BRIEFS.

(From Morning Edition.)

Jumbo's heart weighed one hundred and sixty pounds.

B. Hoffer and T. Harn, of Urbana, were at the St. James yesterday.

Philip Doud is in the station for a plain drunk and disorderly conduct.

H. M. Stormont and lady, of Cedarville, were at the Lexington House yesterday.

J. A. Kearney, N. McKinley and Dr. C. A. Hough, of Waynesville, were in town yesterday.

Miss Lou Ellis, of this city, is the guest of Mrs. D. L. Crane, at Waynesville, Warren county.

Quite a number of persons attended Dr. Leonard's church yesterday, wearing white pling-lane.

J. H. Hicks, Miss Minnie Dugan, T. Watt and Miss Jane Fisher, all of Xenia, were at the Arcade yesterday.

Sly Charlie Constantine went to Columbus yesterday to look after the "swamp lands." He found them at democratic headquarters.

Wm. Branum, the young colored boy who ran away from home some time since, was captured and landed in the station last night by Officers Nickles and Waskey.

Among the more talented vocal pupils in the musical department of the Wesleyan Female College, at Cincinnati, as published in yesterday's Commercial Gazette, appears the name of Miss Florence Peet, of this city.

A suspicious character who has been loitering about the city for some time was run in last night by Officer Delacy. He gave his name as Anselm Kinsey, and had a bunch of fifteen different keys on his person and several very conflicting stories in his mouth.

At the fire last night a colored man snatched the hat from a John Chishman's head and started to run with it, but Officer Delacy grabbed the hat, but the "coon" got away. He ran down Fisher street and jumped over a fence on the edge of the Buck creek rock. Officers Walker and Delacy procured a lantern and went below the rocks, but the dead body of the "coon" was not found. John was much "thanker" to get his hat back.

FIRE RUCK AT WORK.

They Give Firemen a Busy Sunday—Three Times in One Day.

The general alarm that pervaded the city yesterday morning on account of the frequent fire alarms set everybody to talking about "fire bugs" and made property owners consider their insurance policies and to think about the fire department.

This was greatly increased, no doubt, when the general alarm came in the evening and the whole department was called out. Occasions of this kind remind the citizens of Springfield what it is to have an efficient fire department, and everybody feels safe when the fire is out, and the Western and Southern fire lads take the field.

The work done yesterday, especially at the night fire, was highly commendable to the firemen, and nothing but the highest praise is heard, concerning the work done, although the fire was difficult to get at.

At about 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning a fire alarm was sent from box 21, at the Springer house, on East Main street. While the alarm was sounding, box 23 was pulled for the same fire, and the alarm got mixed so that nobody could tell just where the fire was. It was found to be in the stable adjoining the smith shop of Leonard Schaefer, on East Main street. Two stables and the smith shop were badly damaged. The fire originated in the stable in which John Spangenberg kept his horse and carriage. The horse was badly burned about the head and on the back, and the carriage and two set of harness badly damaged. The origin of the fire is unknown. Burning stables from the fire were carried a great distance away, and were constantly dropping on the houses.

A burning brand fell on the store room of Chas. Bietney, another dropped on Thos. Walsh's tailor shop on Gallagher street, and another on a dwelling house on Section street near the station house. These constant alarms kept the firemen busy with the ladders, but no other serious damage was done. At about 10:30 o'clock before the firemen had time to "re-look up," another alarm came in from box 16, and the Western and Southern were sent to No. 16, which proved to be a tenement house, belonging to Ed. Kelly, between Limestone and Market, near Buck creek.

The damages here were but slight, only some bedclothes were slightly scorched.

At about 8 o'clock last night, box 17 was pulled taking the department to what was first promised to be one of the most disastrous fires in the city for some time. It was located in the old blacksmith shop in the alley leading to Gross' stable a man ran out, whom he recognized. The fellow was very much agitated, and excited his attention, and he called to him; he did not answer, but went a short way up the alley and returned and said the stable was on fire. He did not believe him at first, as he saw no signs of the fire, but on going up the alley he saw the blaze and gave the alarm. The fellow is known, and the police will doubtless have him under arrest before this paper reaches its readers.

When Stafford reached the stable the colored man Sam was found asleep and was waked up in time to help him get out the horses, and they were just in time as the fire was above the horses and falling upon them, and they were fortunate in getting them out at all. The damages will not probably embrace more than the building and stable furniture, as it is not thought that the implements stored above are injured to any great extent.

NOTES.

The horse tripped up a crowd of spectators on Main street and made a great laugh.

Dr. Leonard's congregation did not wait for the closing; they left him before the election.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church were dismissed without the usual formality.

A man, whose name could not be learned, stepped in a hole in the alley near the fire, and was somewhat injured.

The Southern horse-man desire to return thanks to the citizens who assisted them in getting the horse up the stairway. Assistance of this kind is always greatly appreciated by the firemen.

Later in the night Inspector Walker and Officer Mills arrested the fellow who acted in a suspicious manner in the alley, just before the fire. He is a German, named Jake, who has been working for Charles Rencher. He was lodged in jail.

VICTORY ASSURED!

ALWAYS PROVIDING THAT THE VOTE COMES OUT.

Interesting Interview with Chairman Bushnell—Republican Plurality Estimated at Between 15,000 and 20,000—The Legislature will be Republican.

(From Morning Edition.)

A reporter for the Globe-Republic who was sent to Columbus to obtain an interview with Capt. A. S. Bushnell, chairman of the republican state executive committee, found that gentleman at the republican headquarters on State street, in company with those two astute political observers, Gen. A. T. Wilcox and Hon. Chas. L. Kura. The reporter was received by Capt. Bushnell in his usual gentlemanly manner. The Captain seemed to be in very good spirits, and it is in defeat in store for the republican ticket, it was not proved in the countenance or demeanor of the republican chairman. Learning the reporter's errand, Capt. Bushnell suspended his chat with the two gentlemen named, and the following conversation took place:

"Capt. Bushnell," said the reporter, "the Globe-Republic, in common with the rest of mankind, would be glad to have your opinion as to the probable result of the approaching election?"

"Well," said the Captain, "if the republicans come out and vote, the State will go republican by 15,000 plurality, and there is every indication that we will have a full republican vote." (Here Gen. Wilcox suggested that Capt. Bushnell was putting it too mildly.)

"I believe," I will say," continued the chairman, "that it will give a plurality for Foraker and the State ticket, of at least 15,000. Yes, I am willing to say from 15,000 to 20,000, from the figures we have."

"What is your information as to the probable course of those three powerful elements, the German, Irish and colored vote, in this contest?"

"I believe that the Germans are largely with us, especially in Cincinnati, Toledo and Cleveland. I don't think there is any doubt about it. As to the Irish vote, I think it is with us in full as large measure as it was last year. I don't believe there has been a report from any place this year where the Irish have gone back to the democratic party from the stand they took last fall. Every report we have received from the Irish part of the state indicate that the Irish who came to our support a year ago, are with us now. As to the colored vote, we have experienced no embarrassment whatever from that source. There is no dissension among the colored people. They will vote almost as a man for the republican candidates. The opposition to Foraker which was prevalent among them two years ago, has almost entirely disappeared, and they are now, practically a unit in his support."

"Do you think the prohibition vote will cut as great a figure in the poll as has been anticipated?"

"I do not. No, we don't think the prohibition vote will be as large as was expected. We don't think it will exceed 15,000."

"How is the Western Reserve on the prohibition party question? Are they making as much noise up there as they are down here?"

"I don't think the third party sentiment is as strong on the Western Reserve this year as it is elsewhere, and the republicans on the Western Reserve promise us their usual large republican majority. I may say in reference to the prohibition vote, that the indications point to a larger percentage of democratic votes going over to that party than in years past."

"What do you suppose will be the result in Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties, Capt. Bushnell?"

"Our information from Hamilton county is that it will go largely republican; that the Germans there are enthusiastically for our ticket, and that our majority will be at least 4,000; and Cuyahoga county is just about the same condition as Hamilton county. The Germans and the workmen are with us, and all advice are to the effect that they will give us 3,000 to 4,000 majority."

"Do you expect the republicans to control the next legislature?"

"Yes, indeed. We shall undoubtedly have a majority in both branches of the general assembly. The senate will be republican, but closer than the house."

"How will the labor vote be cast, in your opinion?"

"I can say this, that the laboring classes are evidently dissatisfied with the present democratic state and national administrations, holding them responsible for continued hard times, the depressed condition of business, and low wages, and they will largely vote for the republican candidates."

"What do you think of Judge Foraker's canvass?"

"There can be but one opinion as to that. Judge Foraker has made a most brilliant canvass. He has impressed every one who has been in contact with him as an able, honest, candid man. His canvass, I repeat, has been a most brilliant and effective one."

"Do you anticipate a full vote?"

"Yes, I think we will have a full vote. I think that vote will very nearly as large as that of last October."

"What will be the basis of the comparison of the returns, election night?"

"The comparison will be on the basis of the vote of 1883. The Western Union Telegraph Company, in sending their bulletin, will base their comparison on the vote of 1883, and the state committee requests all persons attending in returns to make them on that basis."

Throughout the interview Capt. Bushnell was most conservative in his expression of opinions, evidently wishing to understate his estimate of republican success rather than overstate it. In private conversation, not intended for publication, he expressed himself more emphatically than he does in the above. But he stated it distinctly understood that he believed in the coming of a republican triumph is contingent upon every republican doing his duty. Victory may be stolen from us through the laxity of republican organization and the creation of republican vigilance. "Only let us get the vote out," said Capt. Bushnell, as the reporter was leaving, "and a republican victory next Tuesday is assured." The views above expressed were heartily concurred in by Gen. Wilcox and Mr. Kura. Capt. Bushnell has proven himself a very capable organizer, and it is no wonder he achieved this full, it will be in a large measure due to his tireless and patriotic labor; when he will deposit his little ball for Foraker and immediately return to his post of responsibility at Columbus.

A gentleman who was present at republican headquarters at the time the foregoing interview took place stated that Allen O. Myers would assuredly be defeated for reelection to the legislature; that in one precinct alone 130 democratic votes would be cast against him.

CAMP MEETING.

Interesting Sunday Exercises of the Seventh Day Adventists.

(From Morning Edition.)

Sunday morning opened clear and pleasant, and the camp was as at an early hour. At the 10:30 morning meeting Elder Butler occupied the time in setting before the congregation the importance and extent of the missionary operations of Seventh Day Adventists. He showed from the Bible that the messages of Christ's coming back to earth, and the restoration of God's Sabbath, which are now being proclaimed to all parts of the earth, are yet to go to the earth with a loud cry, and all nations are to learn of these special truths. Rev. 18: 1-5; 14: 9-11 and Rev. 7: 1-6 were read and commented on to show the meaning of the advent messages now being proclaimed.

At 9 o'clock another meeting of the Ohio Conference was held. Among other important resolutions passed were the following:

Resolved, That we hereby express our thanks to the Trotting Association, also the superintendent of the fair grounds, for their favors to us at our annual gathering.

Resolved, That we express our thanks to the Globe-Republic and Gazette for the fair reports they have given of our meetings.

The committee on credentials and license, reported. The nominating committee reported the following named persons as officers of the conference for the ensuing year, and the nominees were unanimously elected: Elder R. A. Underwood, E. H. Gates, C. H. Chaffee and W. J. Stone, executive committee; Elders R. A. Underwood, E. H. Gates, C. H. Chaffee, and W. J. Stone, were chosen to represent the Ohio conference at the next annual session of the general conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

At 10:30 Elder Chaffee preached to a large congregation on the subject of "The Law of God." Matt. 5: 19. God requires of us "perfection of character." If God has required such a great attainment at our hand, it is but reasonable to suppose that God would give a perfect rule of life. Some think that our consciences are to be our guide. But this cannot be the case, for we read in the scriptures about defiled consciences and good consciences. This shows that our consciences are not infallible guides in all cases. The wild Indian on the plains will scalp a white man and exult over it, believing that he will fare better in the "happy hunting ground" for having done such an act. His conscience is an imperfect one. God told Abraham to walk before him and be perfect. But his perfection was brought about by obedience to a right and holy law. Gen. 22: 1-6. Abraham did obey the principles of the ten commandments, though they might not have been formally written out as they now exist. In Ps. 19: 7, the law of God is declared to be perfect. No wonder that Dr. Adam Clarke said that no true repentance takes place "where the moral law is not preached and enforced."

In Jas. 4: 2 is a prophecy of Christ. It is there said of him that "he will magnify the law and make it honorable." If Christ had come to this earth and proceeded to tear down his Father's law, he would not have fulfilled the scripture. In Ps. 40, in another prophecy of Christ, he said, "I delight to do thy will," verse 8. Christ further says, "Ye, this law is within my heart." When he came to earth his words and acts were in perfect harmony with the prophecies that went before. In Matt. 5, 17-20, Christ says, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." To "fulfill" means to comply with the requirements of the law. In verse 18 he says, "I fulfill heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law till all be fulfilled." He further says that whoever breaks one of his laws shall be least in the kingdom of God; verse 20. What law is here referred to? It is nothing but the decalogue.

This is proven by verse 21, which quotes one of the ten precepts. He further shows that adultery is committed by the unlawful desire of the heart. Yes, Christ did magnify his father's law by teaching the principles above set forth. When a young man came to Christ and asked what he should do to have eternal life, he answered, "If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." The Apostle Paul also taught the propriety of God's law. In Rom. 3: 19 he says that the law shows the whole world to be guilty. That is because "all have sinned and become short of the glory of God;" verse 23. Not one man in the world can stand before God's law and say, I am not a sinner. No, it says the mouths of all by condemning them. By the law is the knowledge of sin. This was written many years after the crucifixion, where many persons place the abolition of the law. Yes, the law is as binding now as it ever was. In Rom. 7, 12, 14 and 22, the law is declared to be "holy, just and good and spiritual." He also says he delighted in the law of God after the inward man. He does not say it was good, just, true, spiritual, but it is. Why should he speak thus, if the law had been abolished many years before? In Jas. 1, the law is compared to a looking glass into which we look to see the defects of our characters. The law is not to heal us of the stains of sin, but to reveal our true character, as the mirror reveals the defects on our persons. In 1 John 5: 3 the apostle says that love to God is simply obedience to his law. In Rev. 12: 17, brought to view the ark of God in 12: 17, is brought to view the ark of God in heaven, that contains the ten commandments. That law is in heaven and will be the rule of the judgment, Jas. 2: 12. Let us look into the ark of God and discover our defects of character, then let us apply to the Savior, who alone has power to wash away the stains of sin in his own blood. The law is the rule of life, but the gospel is the remedy for sin. May we all apply the remedy, and at last be saved in God's everlasting kingdom.

At 2:30 p. m., Elder D. M. Canright delivered an able discourse to a large congregation on the Sabbath question. The speaker after some preliminary remarks, said that he believed that the ten commandments were sacred and should be obeyed. Hence the fourth commandment, which says, "Remember the sabbath day to keep it holy," should be observed by those who believe that the commandments are binding. Now, if the scriptures teach that the first day of the week is the christian sabbath, we should keep it; but there is not a passage in the scriptures which says that the first day of the week is the christian sabbath, or a holy, or sacred day, or should be observed as a rest day. The first day of the week is only mentioned eight times in the bible. We will now notice the passages. In Matt. 28: 1, we read: "In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, Mary
